SCNA 51st Annual Convention (Oct 26-28, 2023)

Dear Fellow Numismatists and Numismatic Dealers:

You are cordially invited to join us for SCNA 51st Annual Convention. The SCNA Annual Convention is the largest coin show in the Carolina's. There are no stairs to climb or arduous walks from distant parking lots to deal with. Dealers can drive their vehicles right onto the bourse floor for unloading and loadout. Dealer setup is on Wednesday 2 to 8 PM. The Convention is Thursday through Saturday. Security is available until Sunday morning at 9 AM for those dealers who chose not to drive out until Sunday.

For your safety, we have several uniformed and plain-clothed security officers with full arrest authority watching everything on the bourse floor in addition to numerous security cameras in use. Everyone entering the show is video recorded and required to show legal identification. The SCNA has absolutely no problem aiding in the prosecution of shoplifters.

Yes, the SCNA is fully aware of a former ANA Presidents attempt to run a competing one-time show in Nashville. We wish him the best in his endeavor (not really) and fully expect his show to be poorly attended by the public or canceled just as his previous attempts at hosting coin shows have been. The SCNA Convention has been held the last weekend in October for 50 years just as our dealers and customers expect it to continue to be. We WILL NOT be bullied or paid off into changing the date of our show for anyone, especially him. Rest assured, you will not see him at our show or at future SCNA shows as a dealer, for many years to come. He can take his ego somewhere else.

The SCNA convention hosts the absolute best Youth Numismatics Program to be found in the Southeast. The ANA will be conducting grading and counterfeit detection training courses. If you are interested, go to www.SC-NA.org for information and sign up now. Last year's ANA course was filled up by August.

Super Saturday brings you four awesome seminars and will be busy with Scouts working on their merit badges and the Youth Numismatists program will be in full swing.

While there are no current Covid restrictions, the SCNA kindly asks each of you to refrain from entering the convention if you have, or suspect you may have, been exposed to anyone with related symptoms in the two weeks prior to our convention.

This is your convention as much as it ours. If you see any problems or areas where we can improve, please let us know at the front desk or contact me directly at Table 149 or on my cellphone.

Many Thanks,
